

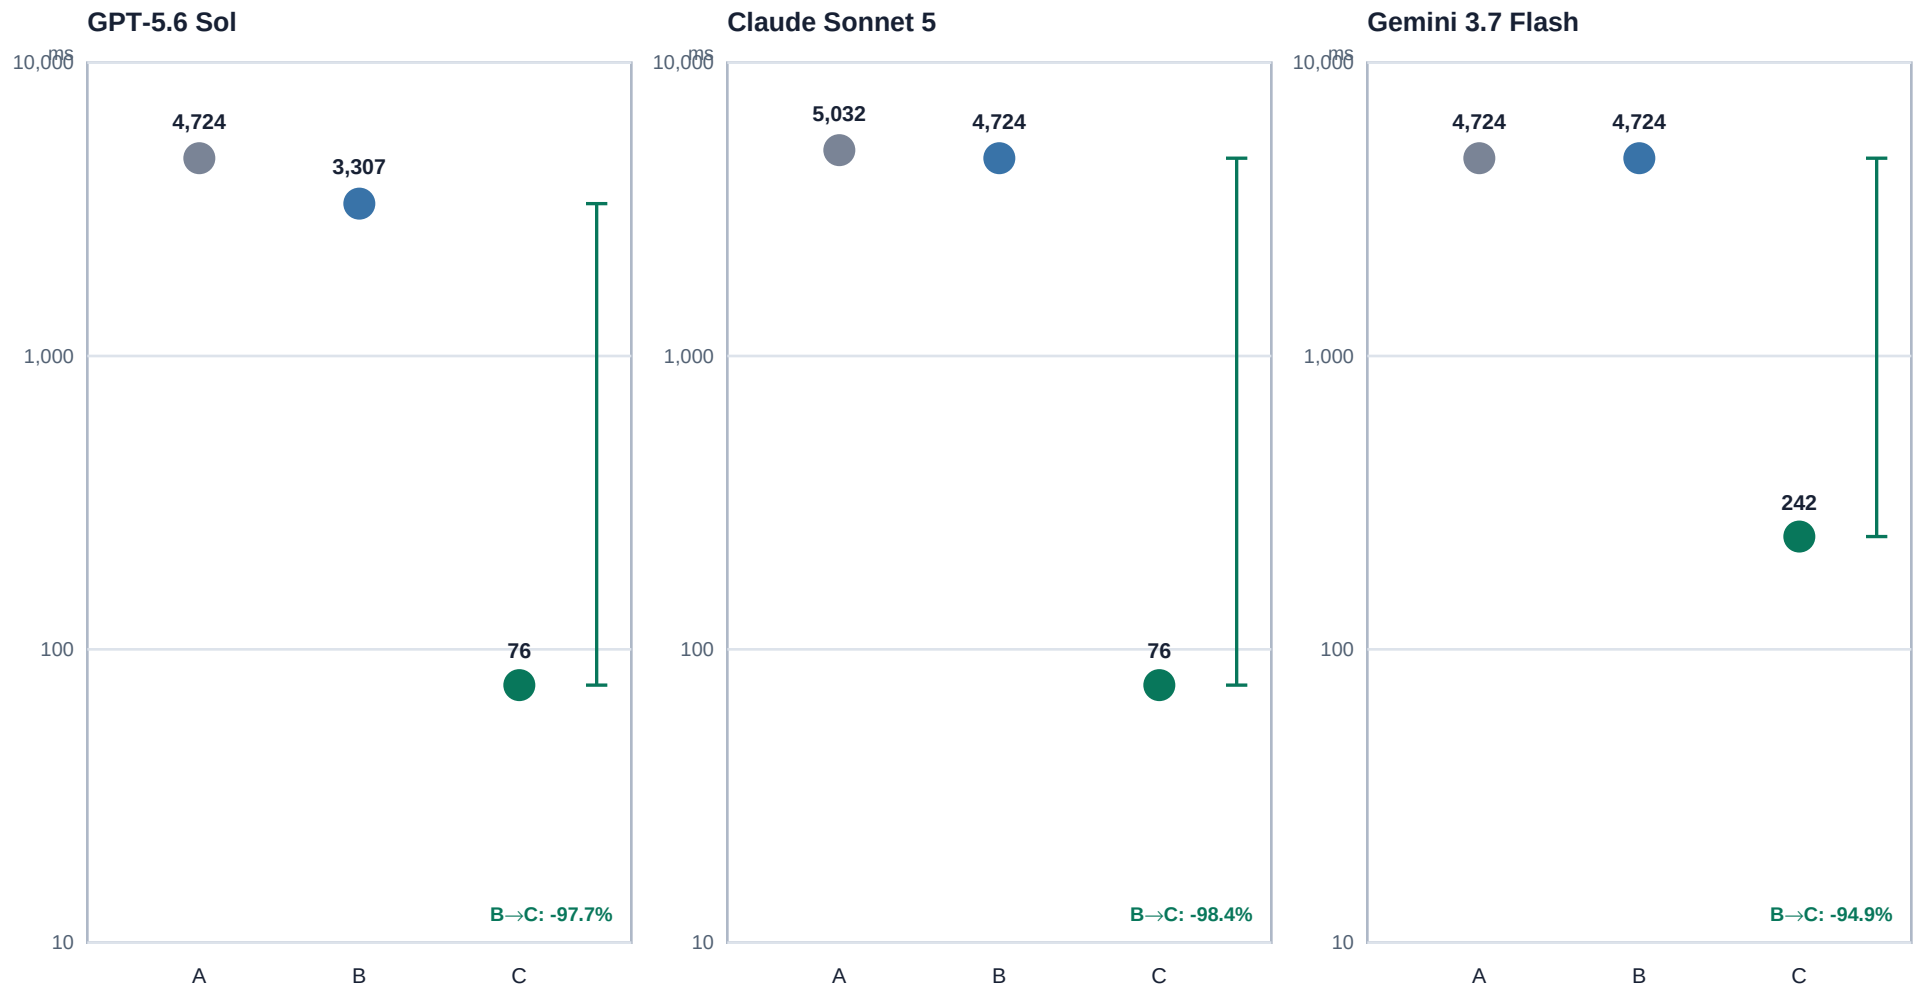

Figure 1. Verified state collapses observable regret across all information conditions

Condition means on a logarithmic scale; n = 24 independent direct-provider decisions per point. Lower is better.

Across all models: B 4,252 ms → C 131 ms (96.9% lower mean observable regret).

Log scaling preserves the full A/B/C ablation while keeping the verified-state values visible.